FINE RIDING AT BOTETOURT FAIR

Two Ladies' Contests, One of Which Was for Speed.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT FINE

One Lady Exhibited Thirteen Kinds of Cake—The Canneries Make a Fine Show—The Premiums Cover a Large Variety of Exhibits.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) FINCASTLE, VA., Oct. 18.—The twenty-first annual exhibition of the Botetourt Agricultural and Mechanical Fair, which opened Wednesday, had a larger and fuller exhibit than any year previous with finer horses and cattle.

Five thousand people were estimated to be on the grounds Thursday. The ladies' department of fancy work was larger and better than ever exhibited. Mrs. Friend, of Buchanan, exhibited eighty-two pieces of her handiwork, notably, an exquisite piece of battenburg of the grape style, all of the grapes made by hand; a lovely piece of silk embroidery, a wreath of roses, samples of hating, crochet, lace and embroidery. Mrs. L. B. Robinson had an exquisite square of white silk embroidered poppies, also another piece worth mentioning was a beautifully executed piece of miles in embroidery by Mrs. Carter, of Fincastle.

KNIT LACE. Mrs. Smith, an old resident, of seventy-five years, exhibited some finely knit lace.

The automobile exhibited from Roanoke attracted a great deal of attention and did a good business in taking passengers around the race track at a nominal price. Chance are taken at a dollar each for the raffle of the auto. at the close of the fair. If one of our country cousins should be the fortunate winner it will be a fine thing to go to mill on.

A quilt one hundred and three years old is on exhibition by a Mr. Bender, of Roanoke. It is in a perfect state of preservation.

The art department had a fine exhibit from Miss Peery, a teacher in the Daleville Institute, in this county.

Mrs. Foster also had a large exhibit of oil and crayon.

Miss Slicer exhibited thirteen different kinds of cake of her own baking. She is a prize for some nice young man. The canned goods were beautiful.

This is a grand old town, far away from the noise of the steam whistle, and lying in a quiet and peaceful, fertile country. Everybody seems to be prosperous and happy. It is estimated that this county will realize a considerable amount from the canneries and the prospect is of a larger number being in operation the next season. Labor is so scarce the farmers realize that fruit and small crops of vegetables will be more remunerative. Apples were never scarcer in this county and sell readily at one dollar a bushel.

The riding match at 3 P. M. created great interest, as it was for speed. Miss Pearl Rayburn won the first prize of $25; Miss Carrie Crush the second of $10 and Miss Price the third prize of $5. The mule race and tournament took place Friday. The second contest for championship in ladies' riding match for a hundred dollars was won by Miss Crush; second by Miss Price, $35, and third by Miss Waltz, $15.

THE PREMIUMS. Premiums were awarded to the following exhibitors in the ladies' department: Mrs. Friend, of Buchanan, for largest and best collection of fancy work.

Mrs. Dr. Keister, first premium on silk embroidery.

A quilt 103 years old, by Mr. Bender, of Roanoke, took first premium.

In the art department Mrs. Foster, of Fincastle, and Miss Peery of Botetourt, received premiums.

DOMESTIC. Miss Eliska Slicer, nine premiums on cakes.

Miss Ross, five premiums on cakes; Mrs. Spiller, on bread; Mrs. Holmes, of Norfolk, on butter; Mrs. Calhoun, preserves; T. K. Peck, thirty varieties of canned fruits; Miss Eliska Slicer, premium on cut flowers and plants.

Their bodies were recovered to-day. Both were colored.

AN ELEGANT WEDDING

Miss Minnie Wright Fetter the Bride of Mr. J. S. Webb.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) REIDSVILLE, N. C., October 18.—Miss Minnie Wright Fetter became the bride of Mr. James Samuel Webb in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church here Thursday. The church was tastefully decorated, the color scheme being green and white. At 9 o'clock an inspiring solo was rendered by Mrs. Francis Womack. Mr. Francis Womack playing the accompaniment on the organ. The bridal party entered in the following order:

The ushers, coming down the side aisles, were Mr. Russell Tucker and Mr. Walter Staples, Mr. Will Stocks and Mr. Alvis Montgomery. Next were Miss Jessie Kerner, of Kernersville, with Mr. John Wellington; Miss Lizzie Fetter, younger sister of the bride, with Mr. Charlie Penn; Miss Pearl Penn, with Dr. J. A. Williams; Miss Kate Anderson, with Mr. Houston Neal; Miss Boss, of Concord, with Mr. Wallace Blackwell. The bride, who entered down the center aisle with her brother-in-law, Dr. L. L. Sapp, was met at the chancel by the groom, who had entered with his best man, Mr. Horace Whitsett.

The couple stood under a large evergreen bell, profusely dotted with electric lights. Above the bell were the letters "W" and "F" made of flaming brilliants by numerous lights. Promptly upon their being made man and wife the lights in the "W" went out, those in the "F" becoming all the brighter.

The party left the church to the familiar strains of Lohengrin's march. The bride, who was elegantly gowned in white China silk, with a long train, carried a white Prayer-Book. Her long veil was gracefully caught with orange blossoms.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. F. A. Fetter, father of the bride, a reception was given the bridal party and the nearest relatives at the hospitable home of Dr. Sapp.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb left for the 11:15 P. M. train for an extended visit to Northern cities. Upon their return to Reidsville, their future home, a reception will be given in their honor by Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Whitsett, aunt and uncle of the groom.

The bride is a blonde, accomplished and beloved by all who know her for her lovely Christian character and amiable disposition. The groom is a popular young business man of this place. Their great presents they received, which showed in how much esteem they were held by their friends.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Mr. Manton Marble Oliver to Miss Mary Love Carter, in the Episcopal Church Wednesday night at 9 o'clock, October 22d.

Mr. H. Haanewinkel, of Danville, Va., and Miss Mamie White, of this city, were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. S. N. White, at high noon, Wednesday, October 16th.
